

Library Quick Guide: Read Magazines/Journals Online in PJC Library Databases

Need to browse an entire magazine or journal? Academic Search Complete is a database that contains the text of many magazines and journals, such as Consumer Reports, Sky & Telescope, and Vital Speeches of the Day. Follow these steps:

From the Library homepage at <http://library.pjc.edu>, click on Find Articles for the most commonly used article databases for PJC assignments.

These are the Most Used Article Databases and are arranged by subject. More Info (descriptions) and Citing links are included. Click database name to log in.

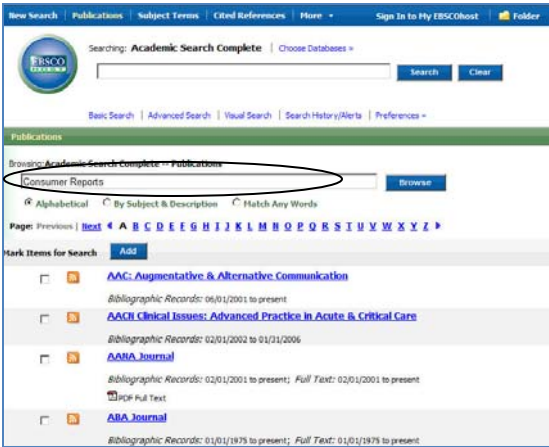

With the drop down menu set to PJC, enter the 14 digit barcode number from the PJC ID card. The PIN is the last 4 of the SSN#. Login questions: call 484-2002 or email libraryreference@pjc.edu. The LINCWeb Toolbar is downloadable and will appear at the top of your browser.

Click the blue Connect to Databases button.

A second browser window will open with the database search screen. Click on Publications.

Enter the magazine/journal title in the second search box. Click Browse. On the next screen, click on the title.

Title information indicates how many issues are available in Full Text and how many issues, if any, are currently not available. Click on date/issue on right to view text of articles.

Contents of issues appear, with article titles numbered. Roll over hourglass to read summary/abstract. Click on PDF Full Text or HTML Full Text to read and print text.

If you did not find the text of your magazine/journal title, click here for more instructions. For assistance, please call the Edward M. Chadbourne Library Reference Desk at 484-2006, or, email libraryreference@pjc.edu
